

HAS ANYONE SEEN BENSON?!

A True Lockdown Tale

By Joanne Kingston & Glenda Northey

Illustrated by Lyn Kriegler

Once there was a sheep called Benson,
a character was he; you just couldn't fence him.
His journeys were recorded on social media pages,
of who'd sighted him and where; it went on for ages.
Facebook became like a Where's Wally book.
About Benson and all the treks that he took.

Benson on his journey

- This story incorporates the lockdown tale about Benson, his escapades and some ghosts of the past that he sees as he trots by.
- Has Anyone seen Benson is also Clint's story as he tries to locate and capture his rambunctious rescue ram.
- It includes within natural landmarks, Maori history and Te reo, local places of historic value and people such as – Allan Curnow, Dorothy Butler and Winchelsea House, the Flax and timber mills, glow worms, Oceanview Boarding House and the original house of Sarah and son Thomas Ussher, Bert Potter, the three local pou, Arthur Mead, and then we extended this to include locals living in both Karekare, Piha and Anawhata.
- Some words of wisdom from Benson.
